Why Accreditation Matters to You

SecurePlus accreditation was developed by SDBIC with AXA, in response to the lack of recognized standards to assess the safety of contents being stored at private vault facilities. To become an accredited facility, Mountain Vault underwent a rigorous on-site assessment of its physical design and operations, involving analysis and inquiries in over 200 different areas ranging from vault design and construction, physical and electronic security, access technology and controls, fire detection and suppression, institutional policies and procedures, and management oversight. In the end, this provides another layer of protection for you and your valuable property.
